A MINIMUM LIST OF APPLICABLE LAWS, REGULATIONS AND NATIONALLY RATIFIED INTERNATIONAL TREATIES, CONVENTIONS AND AGREEMENTS

This minimum list of applicable laws, regulations and nationally ratified international treaties, conventions and agreements is provided to facilitate the use of the FSC National Forest Stewardship Standard of Canada, with special relevance for FSC Principle 1 and Principle 2.

The status of the laws, regulations and nationally ratified international treaties, conventions and agreements listed are up-to-date at the time of publication of FSC Canada Standard (V1-0), but are subject to change. An updated list will be made periodically. Efforts have been made to identify the key treaties, laws and regulations that apply to forest management in Canada, however, the list provided should not be assumed to be exhaustive. The Organization is required to comply at all times with all applicable laws and regulations, whether or not they are listed in this Companion Document.

Treaties and Agreements with Indigenous peoples

Aboriginal treaties in Canada are constitutionally recognized agreements between the Crown and Aboriginal peoples. Most of these agreements describe exchanges where Aboriginal groups agree to share some of their interests in their ancestral lands in return for various payments and promises. They include treaties and agreements such as the numbered treaties (a series of eleven treaties signed from 1871 to 1921) and the recently signed modern day treaties, and government-to-government agreement. Historical and modern-day treaty agreements are available on the federal government website (<https://www.aadnc-aandc.gc.ca/eng/1100100028568/1100100028572>). Each province maintains a record of government-to-government agreements, including records of treaties that may apply within the provincial jurisdiction.

UNDRIP (UN Declaration of the Rights of Indigenous Peoples) is a non-legally binding instrument of international law. Canada removed its objector status of UNDRIP in June 2016, and now endorses this declaration.

Laws and Regulations

The list of acts and regulations provided below are a broad listing of applicable legislation that govern aspects of forest management across Canada. Additional laws may exist, and/or listed acts and regulations may be no longer up-to-date or applicable. The Organization can verify the validity of applicable legislation via the Canadian Legal Information Institute \(CanLII\).

The federal list should be used carefully since some of these Acts may apply only of Federal Lands. Provincial and territorial laws and regulations provide additional, as well as more specific requirements. Some Acts also include amendments which may not be specifically listed in the table.

Note that several guidelines, orders and policies exist that further refine and provide guidance to the application of laws and regulations. These guidelines are not listed here. The National Council for Air and Stream Improvement \(NCASI\) website includes a report of a comprehensive list of provincial and federal regulations relevant to forest management activities, which includes several relevant guidelines and policies.
